

Birds of Pair Head for Fair

Two Torrance area residents, Ray Peel, 22334 S. Main St. and Thomas K. Jackley, 21109 Harvard Blvd., have entered pigeons in the Los Angeles County Fair pigeon show in Pomona, according to Merrill Peters, superintendent of that department.

Peel, who has entered the limit of 30 birds, will be showing Antwerps, Archangels, English Carriers and English Owls. Jackley's entry consists of Archangels, English Dragons, Show Homers, Coburg Larks, and English Owls.

Superintendent Peters said several other exhibitors have already entered the limit of 30 birds, and that he expects the largest show on record.

Basketball Game With Sons Puts Damper on Columnist's Vacation

By VERA C. WRIGHT
FR 2-2288

My bags were all packed, my ticket fare ready, and there I was—ready for that long-awaited vacation. Then I decided to have that daily basketball game with my two young sons and their friends. I ended up with a wrenched back and that was enough to place me in the spot where I was born—the Pasadena Memorial Hospital. Believe me, the word physiotherapy is not as innocent as it sounds. Especially when you add the word treatments to it and the action is performed every day for ten days. Many thanks for the lovely cards and gifts that I have received.

"Chasing a turkey" is not the name of a new game but the action that four-year-old Dan Dohner, 17311 Prairie Ave., is indulging in while visiting in Tennessee with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Cable, who are on their way to their home in Akron, Ohio, where Dan will reside for the next two months.

Happiness is flowing from the 17317 Prairie Ave. home of the

G. L. Wares and all because Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnson with their five little Johnsons have just arrived from Barboursville, Ohio, and will visit with their sister Geneva (Mrs. Ware) for two weeks.

My sister, Sarah Hooker, and my nephew, David, are vacationing at the Wright hacienda and spent their first day enjoying the active amusements at the Long Beach Pike, ending up with food at the Palms. Her visit will end with the appearance of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. White and Miss Jeanette White, who are to be our dinner guests and then they will all venture out to explore the hidden treasures of the city of Lynwood.

Three coins, minus fountain, will get not only a delicious box supper but also a lovely companion to eat with at a box supper family affair to be held at Perry School, 17831 Prairie Ave. on Saturday, Aug. 28 at 7 p.m. Everyone in the community is invited to attend. As an added incentive, although none is needed, three prizes will be awarded to the ladies bringing the prettiest, the most unusual and the most exotic box supper. Gals, please remember to write your name and slip it inside your box; this is an order from Mrs. C. J. Simpson, hospitality chairman from the PTA, who is handling this fine project.

"Thank you's" have been floating all over the community to those many nice persons who helped on the NTGIA booth. They provided the assistance that was needed. We must not forget that the little lady who put forth many, many hours of hard labor working on the queen committee with its many different projects was Enid Rusted, who is the North Torrance Civic Improvement Association's School Education chairman. An orchid to you, dear lady!

Mrs. Vernon Burch, Mrs. Alvin Slatten, Mrs. P. W. Herring, Mrs. Jack Kirkham, Mrs. Maurice Wisdom, Mrs. Gordon Cambridge, Mrs. Glen Rusted, Mrs. Philo Mellor, Mrs. Charles Hynes, Mrs. T. Y. Parsons, Mrs. Chester Gowin, Mrs. Wayne Edwards, and Mrs. Walter Collins are the group of El Nido PTA gals that got together and donated all sorts of materials to be used to make articles for their handiwork booth at their carnival. The gay soiree was held at the home of Mrs. J. A. Westmoreland, 18505 Roslit Ave., who has charge of that particular booth. These gals will continue to meet till school opens.

The C. J. Simpsons have bid adieu to their house guests C. C. Sprinkle and Eagle Scout Mickey Pugh from Rosedale, Kans., who have been visiting with them. They flew to San Francisco, where they will go on sightseeing tours before returning to Kansas.

Christmas holiday plans have already been formulated by two smart little fellows, Jerry Blake and Pat Bheeler. It seems that Jerry spent the first part of the month vacationing with Pat at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Bheeler in Topanga Canyon, much to the enjoyment of their other sons, Mike and Scooter. Besides just pure fun, Jerry learned to dive with the assistance of Mrs. Bheeler, who is a swimming instructor. This week Pat visited Jerry and decided he enjoyed staying at 16825 Thornburgh Ave. after a full week of swimming at Alondra and the beach, attending the drive-in movies and surf riding at Colorado Lagoon. Such a happy time was had by both that they have made plans for their Christmas vacation! Ah—to be young again!

Mrs. Twila Stoner, 4244 W. 179th St., informs us that her son Wayne, who was in an accident, is coming along nicely and the stitches have been removed from his left eye. Our well wishes go out to a brave nine-year-old.

Saturday was an especially lovely day for the Jack White family of 4908 W. 178th Pl., whose son Leo won a beautiful red Monarch bike at the fair. But then came Sunday and Mr. Bloom took a step in their direction. Their brand-new Ford station wagon is now laid up for a couple of weeks and little David is sporting a black eye. We'll never, never repeat your comments, Mr. White, after one look at the $400 for car damages!

18102 Hawthorne Ave. has been the destination of many a delivery truck here lately and in them were set a cookware and an enormous ice cream freezer for Mr. and Mrs. Kahle Meyers. Most excited over these new additions to their home were Phil and Charlotte Meyers, who have just returned from vacationing at their aunt's home, Mrs. C. C. Davenport, in Porterville.

If you happen to see Mrs. Paul McHugh, 4840 W. 179th St., with a grin from ear to ear, the reason is that her doctor has provided her release from those painful treatments she has been undergoing because of an ear infection. Neighbors are commenting that she no longer can use that old standby, "I can't hear you!"

Lucky Al MacKenzie and Jerry Blake have families that love them very much indeed. This was evidenced in the combined family dinner party held in their honor at 16825 Thornburgh Ave. to celebrate Al's 35 years of being a very nice man and Jerry Blake's nine years of being a fun-loving boy. I happened to listen in while the menu was being planned and the turkey and angel food cake on the list made me drool. Hope you have many more happy birthdays, Al and Jerry.

I do hope Mrs. P. D. Marks of 3910 W. 169th Pl., will forgive me for not mentioning that she put forth many a moment formulating plans for the coffee hour which was held in her home to welcome Mrs. Corinne Forques of Seattle, Wash., who is her neighbor, Mrs. H. E. Latlin's, sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Brooks turned their 16818 Thornburgh Ave. home into a Mecca of happiness when they hosted a lovely, gay birthday party for their mother, Mrs. Bertha M. Brooks on Sunday, Aug. 15. Twenty-five friends, relatives and grandchildren gathered together to celebrate her sixty-fifth birthday. Salads galore and ham graced the table along with the birthday cake decorated with large yellow roses which served as the centerpiece. After dinner, her gifts were presented to her by the children in attendance. Interesting to note is the fact that the party was also attended by four of her lifelong friends; in fact these five ladies started kindergarten together in Winona, Minn., and completed school together, and have been buddies throughout the years. They call themselves the Winona girls. They were Miss Gladys Dyar, Mrs. Hazel Whitson, Miss Winifred Millsbaugh and Mrs. Marion Barber. A special orchid should go to Mrs. P. Brooks, who prepared this celebration for her mother-in-law although she was under the doctor's care for a painfully infected finger and had to take 'shots' up to and including the day of the party. How kind can a person be!
